LUMBER COMPANY GETS NEW YARDS

Deming Republicans Meet July 30—Land Office Proceedings.

Deming, N. M., July 15.—The Long Lumber company is putting in its new yard on the corner of Silver avenue and Spruce street.

E. C. Roehbecker has taken a position as clerk in the S. P. roadmaster's office at Deming, vice E. M. Holtray, resigned.

Leslie Smith, a Western Union messenger boy, fell from his bicycle and broke his arm. Alex Hamilton is serving in Smith's place.

Morris Nordhaus has returned from California.

T. A. Kerr, a cattleman from Florida, is in Deming.

A. C. Teel has returned to Nebraska to make arrangements to move here.

Mr. Teel will improve a farm a few miles west of town.

Mrs. J. G. Moir leaves Saturday for Los Angeles.

Senator J. N. Upton has returned to his ranch on the Mimbres.

Lon Barksdale has returned to his home near Nutt station.

The Republican convention, which will nominate candidates for the constitutional convention, has been called to meet July 30.

Papers filed in the United States land office include:

Homestead entries—Francis C. Laclede, five miles south of Deming; John Streinberg, 12 miles south of Deming; Chas. P. Abernathy, two miles north of town; Wm. J. Clevenger, six miles south of Deming; H. V. Ingram, six miles south of Deming.

Other proceedings are: contests, J. B. Hudson vs. Oula Wynn, contest filed; R. L. Miller vs. John K. Bean, testimony heard; Geo. W. McCan vs. D. Iselle Wilkins, hearing set for July 16.

Final proof on homesteads have been made by Jas. Collins on land near Nutt station, and by C. H. Whitehouse on land nine miles east of Deming.

GOVERNMENT TESTING

MADE IN EL PASO PRODUCTS

The local bureau of animal industry, under the direction of Dr. T. A. Bray, is gathering and sending to Kansas City samples of food products made in El Paso, which will be subjected to analysis at the government laboratory there and inspected for injurious preservatives or other matter not named in the label.

Food products manufactured in El Paso will be collected from time to time and sent there for inspection, giving additional protection to the consumer outside of the rigid inspection made by government inspectors stationed at markets. A heavy penalty attaches to the offense of putting injurious preservatives or other substances in manufactured food products not named on the food label.

A daily short story every day in The Herald; also the serial.

Hall's Desperate Effort

To Ride Into Office On Alderete's Coat Tail Will Fail.

There is circulating through the media, and otherwise, and in the interest of F. J. Hall, a circular, one page of which reads as follows:

"Yo voy a votar por F. J. Hall para 'shereif' y por Isaac Alderete para Secretario del Distrito."

This is probably the finest specimen of the political double shuffle this campaign has produced. Mr. Hall's most enthusiastic and vociferous supporters are holding up the Alderete as a horrible example of personal and political depravity, association with whom contaminates, but here we have the candidate himself, or those conducting his campaign—seeking refuge for him from impending defeat by claiming association with the loyalty to the, hiding under the coat of the coat, trying to drag himself into office by holding on to them, and endeavoring, in the face of ruthless and heartless attacks on Alderete, to obtain, by a pretended friendship and association with him, to win the support of the Alderete's supporters, to hold to him, as they are, by a thousand acts of charity and kindness.

A fair fight is conducted under one flag or the other, never under both. Alderete is supporting Peyton Edwards, and Peyton is supporting Ike. Peyton's friends are not vilifying Ike from the pulpit, nor on the street corners, nor through the press while appealing for the support of his Mexican friends.

Everyone knows where Edwards stands. Where is his opponent?

GUBERNATORIAL

RACE HAS BEEN LONG, HOT ONE

He appeals more to the sober side of reason. There is little excitement manifested when he is addressing a crowd, but he manages to hold their attention, to convince and to cause considerable enthusiasm. Few can hear him without believing that he is wholly sincere and is really prompted in his political actions by a noble desire to accomplish some substantial good for the state.

Mr. Pindexter is conceded to be a brainy man and a close student of current political subjects. He is never at a loss to answer any question, and generally leaves the impression with his audience that he is a man of deep thought and of good judgment and ever those who disagree with him express the opinion, after hearing him speak, that he is a safe conservative and trustworthy man.

Davidson Disappointing.

As a public speaker R. V. Davidson has proved a disappointment. The trust of the Alderete's general has nothing of the orator in his makeup. He is lacking in personal magnetism and no speech he has ever made, except when denouncing Bailey, has ever worked his audience up to any degree of enthusiasm. This has proved to be the greatest handicap in his race. Men who had never heard him speak came expecting to be electrified. They were disappointed at his calm and dispassionate way of presenting his argument. He is primarily a civil lawyer and has trained himself to depend on reason for winning his cases and not on sentiment. Had he the gift of oratory of other Alderete's supporters, he would have been a different man.

Colquitt is the best politician of the town, though by no means a great political speaker. He is the best handshaker and the most natural vote getter in the race. He has a wonderful memory for faces and names and can call the men he meets "John" or "Jim" and refer to their business at and at the same time convince them that and at the same time convince them that Colquitt is a man who never forgets his friends. He is a hall fellow well met and has a smile and a word of cheer, greeting for every one he meets. He has a winning manner of taking the people, apparently, into his confidence. He begins his quiet campaigning in the time he alights from a train in a city where he is to speak and his most effective work is done before and after he makes his speech.

On the platform he is not an attractive speaker. He has not the voice, the look, the bearing of an orator. Yet he is what is termed a "good stump speaker." He has a vast number of witty stories to tell, is able to score his opponents in bitter and telling language and in that matter keep his opponents in and in that matter keep up his audience with him. What he lacks in eloquence he makes up in vigor. During his speech there is a succession of fireworks which keeps his audience on a keen edge for what is coming next.

Which method of campaign is most effective will probably be shown after Saturday's primaries. Yet that can hardly be taken as a test for it can be truthfully said that in the present campaign issues have overshadowed the personality of the candidates or any other consideration.

TERRIBLE FOREST FIRES DEVASTATING COUNTRY

Missouri, Mont., July 15.—Since last night the forest fires in Lolo, Bitter Root and Missoula forests for this district have assumed immense proportions, and forestry officials believe if the rain does not come soon this country will experience one of the most disastrous forest fires ever known. The Quartz confederation seems now beyond control and every effort is being made to secure fire fighters.

Another bad fire broke out during the night at Stark.
